

1 OVERTURE 26 from Philadelphia Metro West Presbytery
2 “Amend BCO 10 to Permit Telecommunication Meetings”
3

(to CCB, OC)

4 Be it resolved, that a new Section 10-7 be added to the Book of Church Order, as follows
5 (new wording underlined):
6

7 10-7. The General Assembly, presbyteries, and churches, in their discretion,
8 may conduct meetings using telecommunications arrangements, such as 9 telephone arrangements, internet-based audio and audio-visual communications
10 arrangements, closed circuit audio and audio-visual communications
11 arrangements, and combinations of such arrangements. The General Assembly, 12 presbyteries, and churches, in their discretion, also may authorize their 13 subordinate committees, commissions, and agencies, to conduct meetings using 14 telecommunications arrangements.

15 Some examples of meetings permitted by this Section 10-7 are a 16 meeting in which all of the persons attending the meeting attend using 17 telecommunications arrangements, and a meeting in which some of the persons 18 attending the meeting attend in-person at the appointed meeting place and some 19 of the persons attending the meeting attend using telecommunications
20 arrangements.

21 The General Assembly, presbyteries, and churches, in their discretion, 22 may for themselves and their subordinate committees, commissions, and 23 agencies, adopt rules determining when telecommunications arrangements may 24 be used for meetings and regulating how meetings using telecommunications
25 arrangements shall be conducted.

26 A meeting using telecommunications arrangements shall be conducted
27 as closely as reasonably feasible in the same manner as an in-person meeting
28 and so as to permit:

- 29 a. each person who is eligible to attend the meeting, to attend the 30 meeting;
- 31 b. each person who attends the meeting, to hear what is said by the 32 other persons attending the meeting while they are speaking;
- 33 c. each person who attends the meeting and is eligible to speak to the 34 meeting, to speak to the meeting;
- 35 d. each person who attends the meeting and is eligible to make a 36 motion at the meeting, to make the motion; and,
- 37 e. each person who attends the meeting and is eligible to vote on a 38 matter that is being voted on at the meeting, to vote on the matter.
39

40 Rationale:

41 The recent Covid19 pandemic has prevented the General Assembly, the presbyteries, the 42 churches, and other bodies of the PCA, from holding in-person meetings. This has resulted 43 in significant delays in conducting business.

1 While it might have been possible for many meetings to be conducted using
2 telecommunications arrangements, the existing language of the Book of Church Order (BCO)
3 arguably has sometimes barred the use of such arrangements. For instance, BCO 13-4 4 provides in pertinent part:

5
6 13-4. Any three ministers belonging to the Presbytery, together with at least 7 three ruling elders, being met at the time and place appointed, shall be a
8 quorum competent to proceed to business.

9 However, any Presbytery, by a majority vote of those present at a 10 stated meeting, may fix its own quorum provided it is not smaller than the 11 quorum stated in this paragraph. (emphasis added)

12
13 On April 23, 2002, the General Assembly Committee on Constitutional Business ("CCB")
14 gave the advice (see Rules of Assembly Operations 8-2) that the highlighted language of BCO
15 13-4 bars the use of teleconferencing arrangements for presbytery meetings:

16
17 Response: It is the opinion of the CCB that the Stated Clerk's advice correctly
18 referenced BCO 13-4 parameters governing the meeting of a presbytery. The 19 CCB further concludes that until the BCO is amended to reflect current 20 technological opportunities, the present language in BCO 13-4, which specifies
21 that the presbytery meet at the "place appointed" presents a constitutional bar
22 to presbytery meeting via teleconferencing. Additionally, the BCO 13-4 23 language requiring the "vote of those present at a stated meeting" confirms the 24 understanding that the people must be present at the "place appointed."

26 America, Appendix A, p. 353. See also, Handbook for Presbytery Clerks, 2020,
27 p. 88-10, Q&A 27.)

28
29 The advice of the CCB with regard to meetings of presbyteries presumably also would apply
30 to meetings of the General Assembly, since BCO 14-5 contains language similar to the first
31 sentence of BCO 13-4:

32
33 14-5. Any one hundred (100) of these commissioners, of whom half shall be 34 teaching elders and half ruling elders, representing at least one-third (1/3) of the 35 Presbyteries, being met on the day and at the place appointed, shall be a 36 quorum for the transaction of business. (emphasis added)

37
38 A review of the language of BCO 13-4 and 14-5 in the PCA Historical Center's online
39 publication The Historical Development of the Book of Church Order shows that the BCO 13-4
40 phrase "being met at the . . . place appointed" was used in the 1789 PCUSA predecessor to 41 the BCO, and the BCO 14-5 phrase "being met . . . at the place appointed" was used in the 42 1867 PCUS draft predecessor to the BCO. (<https://pcahistory.org/bco/fog/13/04.html>;
43 <https://pcahistory.org/bco/fog/14/05.html>)

1 It is understandable that a church in those years, before the advent of the telecommunications
2 arrangements available today,¹ would expect that a presbytery meeting would be held in-
3 person. However, there is no reason to continue to apply such a rule in the current day where 4 meetings of many sorts are regularly conducted using telecommunications arrangements.
5

6 With regard to holding meetings using telecommunications arrangements, the BCO's current 7 language also may fail to meet the requirements of Robert's Rules of Order Newly Revised
8 (12th Edition, 2020 ["RONR (12th ed.)"]), the principal parliamentary standard used by the 9 General Assembly (Rules of Assembly Operations, 19-1). RONR (12th ed.) requires that in 10 order for an organization and its committees to conduct meetings using telecommunications
11 arrangements ("electronic meetings"), such meetings using telecommunications arrangements
12 must be authorized by the organization's by-laws or similar rules. RONR (12th ed.) 9:30
13 through 9:36. The BCO, though, does not expressly authorize meetings using telecommunications
14 arrangements.
15

16 To avoid the limitations that currently may be imposed by the BCO and address the 17 requirements of Robert's Rules of Order Newly Revised, proposed new BCO Section 10-7
18 would expressly allow the General Assembly, presbyteries, and churches, in their discretion,
19 to conduct meetings using telecommunications arrangements, such as telephone
20 arrangements, internet-based audio and audio-visual communications arrangements, closed 21 circuit audio and audio-visual communications arrangements, and combinations of such 22 arrangements. Proposed BCO 10-7 also would expressly allow the General Assembly,
23 presbyteries, and churches, in their discretion, to authorize their subordinate committees,
24 commissions, and agencies, to conduct meetings using telecommunications arrangements.
25

26 Some examples of meetings that would be permitted by the proposed rule are a meeting in 27 which all of the persons attending the meeting attend using telecommunications arrangements, 28 and a meeting in which some of the persons attending the meeting attend in-person at the 29 appointed meeting place and some of the persons attending the meeting attend using 30 telecommunications arrangements.
31

32 Consistent with the General Assembly's practice of adopting Rules of Assembly Operations to 33 regulate the conduct of its meetings and the similar practice of the presbyteries in adopting 34 standing rules, proposed BCO Section 10-7 would permit the General Assembly, presbyteries,
35 and churches, in their discretion, for themselves and their subordinate committees,
36 commissions, and agencies, to adopt rules determining when telecommunications arrangements
37 may be used and regulating how meetings using telecommunications arrangements shall be 38 conducted.
39

40 The final sentence of the proposed BCO 10-7 seeks to help assure that persons who are eligible 41 to attend and participate in meetings using telecommunications arrangements will be able to 42 do so. Proposed BCO 10-7 provides that a meeting using telecommunications arrangements
43 shall be conducted: (a) as closely as reasonably feasible in the same manner as an in-person
44 meeting; (b) so as to permit each person who is eligible to attend the meeting, to attend the

1 meeting; (c) so as to permit each person who attends the meeting to hear what is said by the
2 other persons attending the meeting while they are speaking; (d) so as to permit each person
3 who attends the meeting and is eligible to speak to the meeting, to speak to the meeting; (e)
4 so as to permit each person who attends the meeting and is eligible to make a motion at the 5 meeting, to make the motion; and, (f) so as to permit each person who attends the meeting and 6 is eligible to vote on a matter that is being voted on at the meeting, to vote on the matter.

7
8 The rules set out in the final sentence of proposed BCO 10-7 are intended to be a basic set of 9 rules helping to assure the fairness and effectiveness of meetings using telecommunications
10 arrangements. It is expected that the additional rules provision of proposed BCO 10-7 would 11 be utilized to adopt further rules (such as those suggested in RONR [12th ed.] 9-30 through 12 9-36 and pp. 635-649) that would more fully help assure that meetings using telecommunications
13 arrangements are conducted "decently and in order."
